The extent of the Federations waters are shown on the maps in this Handbook and can also be downloaded from the website. If in doubt of rights to fish anglers should seek confirmation to avoid prosecution. Where the Board considers it necessary, changes to the extent or boundaries of Federation waters will published on the Federations website.
The Federation has acquired fishing rights on the River Till and Wooler Water. These rights are subject to special rules which are published on the Federation’s website and it is not possible to fish them without making prior arrangements with the Head Bailiff. All anglers should take care whilst fishing, particularly when wading. Be careful when back casting if there are other persons behind you, particularly non-anglers. Be extra careful if there are overhead wires or cables nearby, especially when using carbon fibre rods. Carbon fibre is a high conductor of electricity, and contact with electric power lines can kill or cause severe bums.

Avoid trespass and close all gates behind you.

Keep any dog on a leash.

Park your car with care and consideration. Do not obstruct any gates, openings, roads or ways.

Take all litter, including discarded line, home with you.

Observe the Country Code and the Game Angling Code.

Consider the guidelines of the Conservation Angling for Salmon on the Tyne (the CAST guidlines) see website.

Coloured fish, represent the future of the river and the Trustees are keen to see these fish being returned to the water as carefully as possible and not killed.-
Anglers are encouraged to return brown trout to the water to maintain the stock of breeding fish.

COMPETITIONS

2. The anglers proven to have caught the heaviest salmon and brown trout on any Federation water in each year will hold the Centenary Cup for such fish for one year and receive a free salmon or trout permit for one year.
3. A trophy in memory of Jim Hardy, former Federation Chairman for many years, will be awarded to the angler catching the heaviest sea trout on Federation waters, to be held for one year.

GENERAL

It is in the interests of all anglers that permit holders should observe Federation Rules and all relevant statutory provisions, and anglers are reminded that the Board has unlimited discretion to cancel permits without refund of fees paid and to refuse future applications for permits. The presence of nets, fixed lines or, other illegal devices should be reported immediately to the Head Bailiff or EA. Do not touch or remove them as this can prevent a successful prosecution.
